It's Mystifying

'Fumin' Fungus'

Is it animal, vegetable or mineral?

Fred Williamson, who resides on Route 344 about 3 miles north of Salineville, is shown examining the strange growth he discovered last week in his garage.

Apparently a type of fungus, the substance resembles sections of an inner tube, but has been spreading and emits smoke at infrequent intervals.

Williamson said he first noticed the growth early last week, but discovered the smoke for the first time Friday and called in a neighbor, Mrs. Lena Lough, who verified it.

L. K. Henry, a member of the botanical department at the Carnegie Museum in Pittsburgh, said this morning the substance appears to be a form of "slime mold" from the description furnished by the Review.

Webster's International Dictionary said the "slime mold" is "Myxomycetes, a class of peculiar organisms sometimes considered to be animals, but commonly regarded as plants. Except for a few parasitic species, they are found on damp earth and decaying vegetable matter and consist of naked masses of protoplasm, which creep slowly over the surface and ingest solid foods."

The vapor resembling smoke apparently is an emission of gas of some kind or a chemical mist. It is not the smoke of combustion.

Science fiction writers can take it from here.

3 Youths Hurt In Auto Crash On Y. & O. Rd.

Cars Collide When Young Driver Tries Pass During Turn

Three district youths were injured when their car smashed into another making a turn on the Y. & O. Rd. near Glenmoor Saturday night, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

John Pickens, 18, of 214 3rd St., Wellsville, was driver of a car which attempted to pass that of John Trua, 37, of East Liverpool, as Trua made a left turn.

The mishap was timed at 6:25 p. m. about a half mile east of Glenmoor as both cars were headed west.

Pickens suffered abrasions of the right hip and bruises of the head and was detained at City Hospital until Sunday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pickens.

William Grimes, 15, son of Mrs. Dorothy Grimes of R. D. 1, and Wayne Hutchison, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hutchison of Canons Mills — passengers in Pickens' car — were treated at the hospital. Hutchison suffered bruises of the head, and Grimes received a shoulder injury.

Trua's 1950 coach and Pickens' 1956 coach were damaged badly, according to officers, who cited Pickens for speed in excess of road and traffic conditions. He is slated for a hearing Saturday before County Judge Earl Spalding at East Palestine.

City, Weirton Cars Collide At Cumberland

Autos operated by East Liverpool and Weirton drivers were involved in a mishap Sunday night at 8:20 on N. Chestnut St. in New Cumberland.

The Hancock County sheriff's office said the cars of Paul E. Stauffer, 21, of 483 Orchard Grove Ave., and Thomas Pillman, 35, of Weirton, R. D. 1 collided near a traffic light. They listed no injuries.

Palestine Gets Power After Bolt Damage

Lightning Burns Off Feeder Lines At City Generating Facility

EAST PALESTINE — Electric power was resumed at 1:25 a. m. today on a partial basis following emergency repairs at the Municipal Light Plant and water works which was struck by lightning at 5:20 p. m. Sunday during a severe thunderstorm. Full service was restored late this morning.

The bolt skipped two arrestors and burned off all the feeder lines from the plant. The roof was set afire.

Firemen checked the blaze within 40 minutes but the water soaked through and put the switch gear distributor out of commission. The eight hours of work required to restore partial service included installing new feeder lines and drying the switches with fans.

Some 6,000 village and area residents were without service in 2,500 homes. This included all of East Palestine and the outlying rural areas. This was the longest failure in the plant's history.

The city was put on an emergency water basis at 7:30 p. m. as the pumps were idled by lack of power. Conservation measures were broadcast throughout the city on public address system.

The only water available was that left in the reservoirs. The main concern was that another fire might break out.

2 Locals In Gas Strike Resume Negotiations

Two of 5 striking locals of District 50, United Mine Workers, were to be represented in talks this morning in Pittsburgh in an effort to break the deadlock in the 36-day old strike of maintenance and service workers of the Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. Federal Mediation Commissioner George Womer and State Conciliator Howard DeBolt were due at the session at the Penn-Shertown Hotel.

It is believed that a settlement with the two negotiating locals would serve as a pattern for peace-ful agreements throughout the area, including East Liverpool, Steubenville and Bellaire, where other locals are striking the Ohio Valley Gas Co.

'Disgusted' With Attacks On President

Raps Castro For Building Intense Slander Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has fired back at the increased salvos of criticism coming from the Soviet Union and Cuba.

Within a period of a few hours Saturday, the State Department:

1. Said it was disgusted with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's bitter attacks on President Eisenhower. It accused Khrushchev of trying to degrade international relations and confuse the issue of the Paris summit conference collapse.

2. Protested to Havana that the Fidel Castro regime was building an intense official campaign of slander against the United States. It said the Cuban government was trying to sow distrust and animosity while claiming to seek friendship and understanding.

President Eisenhower, without naming Khrushchev, also hit back at the personal criticism of him which has been coming from Moscow.

In a commencement address Sunday at the University of Notre Dame, he deplored as "the enemies of human dignity" the leaders who "brandish angry epithets, slogans and satellites."

Earlier, Eisenhower had said in a talk at West Point, N.Y., that Khrushchev's "ill tempered expressions" had made the Western alliance stronger than ever. That time mentioned the Soviet leader by name.

The weekend statement issued by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter through the State Department was aimed directly at Khrushchev and his "personal attempts at vilification."

"All America, I am sure, shares the disgust I feel at the ill-tempered attacks emanating from Mr. Khrushchev," Herter said. "His remarks reflect credit neither on himself nor on his government."

There was no immediate Soviet reaction to the statements by Eisenhower and Herter.

Havana responded quickly to the U.S. protest. Castro's Ministry of Foreign Relations rejected it.

Lone Bid Filed On Postal Site

Wellsville's Facility Awaits U. S. Action

Only one bid has been received to date for providing a new Wellsville postal facility, according to Roy E. Ronke, real estate officer, in Cleveland.

Ronke said any bid mailed with a postmark of Sunday will be considered. The bids, if there are any others, will be opened Tuesday or Wednesday.

The lone bid is from a Cleveland firm for providing the former Standard Hardware building at 12th St. Ronke said the firm submitted four alternatives on the building.

He said he will analyze the bids, try to obtain the best deal possible and then submit his findings to the regional real estate office at Cincinnati. John W. Minehart of Cincinnati is the regional real estate officer. Any public announcement will be made by Harry Cochran, assistant regional real estate officer.

The postal department delayed action on the 12th St. building when opposition cropped up. It was then announced that no action would be taken until June 5, to allow anyone interested in submitting a bid for a completely new building or renovating another.

Postal authorities said the building has to be located in the area of Main and Riverside from 4th to 12th Sts.

The present Post Office is not large enough to handle the volume of mail. There are no convenient loading platforms and all mail must be carted either through the front or a side door.

Pro-American Wins Top Post In Bolivia Vote

Paz Estenssoro Is Elected President In Landslide Victory

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Victor Paz Estenssoro, who nationalized Bolivia's huge tin industry in 1952, rode back into the presidency today on an overwhelming vote.

The 52-year-old political veteran led the ruling pro-American Nationalist Revolutionary Movement (MNR) to a landslide victory against three challengers.

Two of the defeated candidates shouted fraud even before all the election, which was carried out with only a smattering of violence in this Andean nation noted for turbulence. Fifty persons were killed during the campaign.

Walter Guevara Arze, 47, who broke with the MNR and formed his own Authentic Nationalist Revolutionary Movement (AMNR), and Mario Gutierrez of the Bolivian Socialist Falange (FSB) raised the protests as they ran neck and neck, but far back, for second place.

Hugo Gonzalez Moscosco of the Trotskyite-Communist Revolutionary Workers party, the fourth man in the field, got only a handful of votes.

The slim, dark Paz Estenssoro went into an early lead and the outcome was never in doubt. His major support came from the largely illiterate Indian and peasant population and from the organized miners. His running mate was Juan Lechin, Bolivia's labor chief.

There were about 1,200,000 registered voters. Incomplete official returns gave Paz Estenssoro's MNR 128,458; Guevara Arze's AMNR 44,966; Gutierrez' FSB 44,800; Communists 4,226; Revolutionary Workers' party 637.

Outgoing President Hernan Siles Zuazo succeeded Paz Estenssoro as president when the latter was unable under Bolivian law to seek re-election in 1956. Both are leaders of the MNR party, which has ruled since 1952.

Judge Tobin Injured In Steps Fall At Home

Probate Judge Louis Tobin, 925 St. Clair Ave., is in "fair" condition today at City Hospital with injuries to the hip and a sprained back suffered in a fall on the cellar steps at home Sunday.

The jurist is expected to be at the hospital for a few days and will convalesce at home for perhaps a week or more. Hearings and legal actions in Probate and Juvenile Court at Lisbon have been postponed.

Could Hit Atlas Firing

Machinists Strike Key Rocket Bases

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Key Atlas missile bases from California to Florida were struck today in a contract dispute between Convair and the International Assn. of Machinists.

The strike could affect firing of the Atlas, the United States' only operational intercontinental range rocket.

About 800 IAM members struck Cape Canaveral, Fla., missile test center. Picket lines were set up at midnight. Also struck was the midnight deadline moved across time zones to the West Coast were Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., Warren Air Force Base, Cheyenne, Wyo., and four facilities of Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha, Neb.

Convair officials in San Diego said the strike definitely would affect firing of the big missiles. The Air Force, however, was mum.

IAM members, 330 strong, also struck the Holloman, N.M., Air Force Base facility of Convair. But this strike stemmed from a local issue than from the national negotiations that broke off Sunday in a deadlock.

Election To Be Tuesday

5th Write-In Enters Race For Chester Council Post

Campaigning for a fifth write-in candidate in Chester municipal election Tuesday — Percy Willison for Fifth Ward Councilman — has added further interest in the balloting which is expected to draw a fairly heavy vote, most observers reported today.

William Cashdollar of Orion Ave. Sunday announced he heads a group seeking to elect Willison, a Republican, to the Council post by write-in.

Willison lost by one vote to Willis Bishop in the GOP primary in April. He is a former councilman and is a barber.

There are no Democrats listed on the ballot for the Council posts in Wards Two to Five, but there are write-in candidates working in opposition to the listed GOP officials seekers.

Polls will be open from 7:30 a. m. to 7 p. m. With voting due on a proposed 2-mill levy for a swimming pool at the City Park and with the activities of the write-in candidates, an above-average turnout is expected tomorrow at the polls.

The Republican slate includes:

Kishi Stands Firm On Ike's Visit To Japan

Mass Resignation Of Socialists Bid To Force Premier Out

TOKYO (AP) — The Socialist bloc in Parliament today formally approved its mass resignation in a pressure move aimed at ousting Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi and washing out President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

Socialist leaders hoped the mass resignation would arouse public opinion to force Kishi to dissolve Parliament before the U.S.-Japan security treaty automatically takes effect June 19 — the day Eisenhower is due to arrive.

The big national labor federation, Sohyo, called a national convention Wednesday and Thursday to draft plans for another strike against Kishi, the security pact and the Eisenhower visit.

The "People's Council to Block the Security Pact," spearheaded by the Socialists and Sohyo, announced a timetable on its anti-government campaign emphasizing protests against the President's visit.

Included are demonstrations in front of the U.S. Embassy June 10 when a White House advance party, led by presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, arrives; "May Day-like" demonstrations throughout the country June 11 with 200,000 expected to take part in protest rallies around the Parliament building and the U.S. Embassy; a series of work stoppages June 15-17, climaxed by a strike on the 17th, and mass marches with demonstrators wearing mourning on the day Eisenhower arrives.

A Notre Dame citation presented to the resident with an honorary doctor of laws degree praised him as "the most eminent of his time."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, told Eisenhower, "When others ranted and raged, you stood firm and symbolized human dignity."

Property Reappraisal Begins At Beechwood

Reappraisal of East Liverpool real estate for tax purposes was launched today in the Beechwood area by a crew of two men, Adin Kauffman, head of the reappraisal program, announced today at Lisbon.

Originally set to begin here in April, the program was delayed by bad weather and the illness of some of the employees. The county-wide program was launched last year. It calls for fixing a new tax valuation on every parcel of real estate.

Kauffman was unable to estimate how long the East Liverpool work will require, as it will depend upon the number of appraisers assigned here and the weather, he said. More appraisers will be assigned to the city as they complete work in other areas, he said.

President's Honored By Notre Dame

Joins Classmates Of 1915 In Activities At Military Academy

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — President Eisenhower is back among his West Point classmates of 1915 today after a one-two rap at Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and a round of warm public receptions.

The President, taking part in a full day of activities, decided to fly back to Washington Tuesday morning instead of late tonight after another reunion dinner.

His program today includes the traditional march with the men of his class, a review of the cadet corps on the plain above the Hudson River, and a brief speech at an alumni luncheon.

Eisenhower arrived at the United States Military Academy Saturday afternoon, then interrupted his visit Sunday to fly to South Bend, Ind., to accept an honorary degree and make the commencement address at the University of Notre Dame.

He returned to West Point in the early evening.

At Notre Dame the President took a crack at world leaders he accused of brandishing "angry epithets, slogans and satellites."

He called them enemies of human dignity. Eisenhower didn't mention Khrushchev by name, but there was no doubt the Kremlin leader was a target. It was the second time within 48 hours that the President had jabbed at the man who has been vilifying him for three weeks. Saturday night Eisenhower left the 45th reunion dinner of his class and made an informal talk near West Point at a Republican banquet. He reminisced a few moments about his cadet days and then turned specifically to the Khrushchev tirades against him.

"Many of the excesses, particularly the ill-tempered expressions of Mr. Khrushchev, have really brought the West closer together than I have known it," Eisenhower declared to a round of applause from his audience of 1,500 diners.

Eisenhower touched off more applause in saying: "There is no nation in this world that dares at this moment to attack the United States, and they know it."

After that talk at nearby Bear Mountain Inn the President got a warm ovation from crowds waiting outside. He got another on his arrival Sunday at South Bend. Police Chief Charles Dutrie estimated that 200,000 turned out to greet him from a metropolitan area with a population of about 250,000.

"God bless you, Ike," read a sign at the airport. "We still like Ike," another proclaimed.

A Notre Dame citation presented to the resident with an honorary doctor of laws degree praised him as "the most eminent of his time."

At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of Notre Dame, told Eisenhower, "When others ranted and raged, you stood firm and symbolized human dignity."

Report Claims Cuba, Red China Ties Due

NEW YORK (AP)—Fidel Castro's regime is getting ready to establish diplomatic ties with Red China, the New York Times said today.

The move would break the solid Latin American front against recognizing Peiping and would arouse concern in the United States, which has spearheaded the move to keep the Chinese Communists out of the Western Hemisphere.

Diplomats believe relations with Peiping will be established before July 26, anniversary of the 1953 uprising from which Castro's revolutionary movement took its names. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has accepted Castro's invitation to visit Cuba.

Cuba has been cementing ever closer ties with the Soviet bloc and has maintained unofficial relations with Peiping for some time.

Court Action
Set On Ballots

A mandamus action will be filed in the West Virginia State Supreme Court Tuesday morning in an effort to void some 295 sample ballots cast in Hancock County's primary May 10 in the Democratic race for state senator.

Atty. Abraham Pinsky of Wellsburg said today he will be in Charleston tomorrow morning to seek the order. If granted by the Supreme Court, it would direct the Hancock County Court to invalidate the ballots cast for state senator in three precincts.

Atty. Pinsky will appear on behalf of Sen. Herbert Traubert of Follansbee who apparently lost the state senate renomination bid by a close margin to William Tompos of Weirton.

The writ apparently would cancel the ballots cast for state senator in Precincts 13, 14 and 15 in Clay District, and apparently would make Sen. Traubert the leader in the three-county 1st Senatorial District.

The latest figures give Tompos an 81-vote margin over Sen. Traubert, 10,959 to 10,878. A third candidate, Donald Chaney of Chester, received 3,986 votes. The district covers Hancock, Brooke and Ohio Counties.

Bid To March
In New York

Weir High School's 144-member marching band has received an invitation to participate in Macey's famous Thanksgiving Day parade in New York City Nov. 24.

Charles McKinney, director, made the announcement Sunday at Raccoon Creek State Park as the band arrived for a three-week band camp.

Dale Lutton, a former Chester resident who will become director next fall to succeed McKinney, told the students today of his intention to accept the invitation pending approval of the Hancock County Board of Education.

The Weir Band traveled to Pasadena, Calif., last New Year's Day to participate in the Tournament of Roses Parade and attended the Rose Bowl football game.

It also has appeared at the Los Angeles Invitational basketball tournament, the Los Angeles Breakfast Club luncheon in January for Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a football game at the University of Arizona, and presented a concert at Disneyland.

The Macey parade, nationally televised on major networks, covers a route of two miles, beginning in Central Park and proceeding down Broadway through famed Times Square.

The band director said the student organization of HUTHO—"help us to help ourselves"—will again be active to finance the band's trip. There will be no public solicitation, he added.

Acid Flushed
By Firemen

Acid overflowing from a Pennsylvania Railroad car was flushed away by Wellsville firemen Saturday afternoon at 3:20.

Railroad employees called, reporting that the tank car had developed a leak and the acid was running out on the ground. Firemen instructed the conductor and engineer of the freight to keep the tanker at the lower end of the yards away from the area of any homes until they could make preparations.

A 2½-inch line was then laid and reduced to smaller lines with fog nozzles. The firemen, all equipped with masks, stood by in readiness and signaled the train to be moved into reaching distance of the hoses.

The fog nozzles were played on the car to absorb the vapors. After the cold water hit the tank car, the acid quit leaking. Firemen found that the hot sun had caused the acid to expand and overflow through a safety valve. The tank was then cooled more with big streams of water and the freight continued on its way.

It was headed east, en route from Columbus, firemen said. Lint in a clothes drier at the home of Harry French, 1717 Commerce St., caught fire Friday night at 7:15, firemen said. About $100 damage resulted.

Talking Always Beats Fighting

When the talking in the 10-nation East-West disarmament committee starts up again on Tuesday, the subject will be the new total disarmament plan proposed by the Soviet Union.

One of Russia's specialties has been extremism in disarmament proposals. It is like proposing the abolition of fire extinguishers and fire departments as the opening move in a fire prevention campaign. As far back as the almost forgotten time of Maxim Litvinov, the Soviet Union was talking about total disarmament.

It is a safe topic. No one intends to disarm totally, including the Soviet Union. Thus, total disarmament can be talked about for the sake of the conversation, with no other purpose in mind.

ONE OF THE hardest blows to western confidence in Soviet intentions since the end of World War II is this never-ending talking for talking's sake by Russians trained in the art of dialectics.

These men are picked for their jobs because they have proved they can argue circles around any opponent, while never losing command of their own inflexible positions. They've even mastered the slippery move of seeming to give way at the psychologically opportune moment, to draw the opposition off guard, as football players do in the "mousetrap" play.

Just before the time for the Paris Summit conference, for example, they were suddenly reasonable in the disarmament talks at Geneva.

Essentially, however, the Soviet bloc at Geneva has insisted on total disarmament, knowing it is out of the question. The newest proposal from Moscow is in keeping with this unrealistic position that provides the Soviet Union with a talking point but robs the disarmament committee of any conceivable acting point.

IT IS SIMPLY impossible to take Russian spokesmen at their word, when there is so much evidence they do not really believe what they say. This lays the groundwork for a kind of despair that prompts the impatient to believe it would be better, all things considered, to give up talking altogether.

But talking beats fighting, even when the talking ends in disagreement. There always is the possibility the Russians may mean it sometime and perhaps propose something plausible.

It is not, in truth, beyond imagining that one of these days they might make a serious proposal about limited disarmament.

Graduates: It's Your Turn Now

One theme that gets into circulation at commencement time each year should be exterminated along with the other pests the next time exterminators are called into save educational institutions from the ravages of time.

It runs to the effect that graduates won't have things as good as they deserve because things aren't as good as they should be or as good as they used to be.

The theme is preposterous.

Graduates will end up, by and large, with what they deserve, just as their fathers, grandfathers, mothers and grandmothers did. It was pretty good, too—a chance to enjoy life in the best of all possible worlds in the best of all possible countries.

As for things not being as good as they should be, that is why the responsible generation has spent so much money educating the generation getting ready to take over responsibility. Even though it's contrary to a common American credo, improvement through education is held to be worth the cost and the effort. No one ever has argued that Americans would be better off without schools. The claim that outstanding Americans who had no schooling managed to stay solvent, therefore it is possible for all individuals to get along without formal instruction, is illogical.

As for things not being as good as they used to be for graduates, this is one of those rosy reminiscences like the taste of mother's cooking. People who say this can be forgiven; they have the sweet taste of their own youth in their mouths when roses are blooming and every vista pleases. They are temporarily not responsible for what they are saying. They forget that to the young in spirit all things always seem possible.

This is a well-intended warning to graduates: Don't take seriously any dark murmurings about the world as it seems to those who have grown shopworn from being in it. They had their chance to make it better and, all things considered, they did make it better, despite their misgivings. It's your turn now.

Everybody's An Expert On Safety

There isn't a man or a woman alive who doesn't have a few firm ideas about increasing traffic safety. This is good. Society can use all these ideas it can generate.

J. Grant Keyes, Ohio's highway safety director, has produced an idea in this regard that we like especially, because it gets into the relationship between adults and adolescents. He wishes adults who talk in front of kids would quit telling how they violated traffic laws and got away with their offenses. Kids shouldn't be encouraged to follow bad examples.

Excessive speed and driving left of center, he pointed out, were the main causes of last weekend's carnage in Ohio — 28 deaths during the 78-hour holiday period, six of them in one accident involving a car moving 100 miles an hour on the wrong side of the road. That, of course, should be discouraged, too — and always is, provided the law is around.

BUT THEN Keyes gets into an idea that raises a question. He thinks Ohio's licensing laws should be tightened and proposes that all drivers should be made to undergo examination. Somehow we doubt that this would get to the root of what Mr. Keyes is troubled about, which is the fatality toll.

The drivers who give us the mortuary blues are mostly in the flower of their youth. They have the reflexes of alert young tomcats. They handle their cars as if they were driving them on the Indianapolis Speedway. But they are driving them on public highways.

We get sore at slowpokes, people who signal to turn right, then turn left and all the half-fuddled fumadiddles who drive as if they were playing Dodge. We suffer when we see a woman trying to park a car without knowing. They might flunk an examination. We couldn't pass a driver license examination without boning up on the shape of the signs we always read and how to park a car between fishpoles, which is the flunk-out point for many applicants.

BUT THESE AREN'T the people the insurance companies are so leery of that they charge them premium rates. They would be the ones who would go through the wringer, however, if everybody and his brother and sister had to take a re-examination for an Ohio driver's license.

Not that it wouldn't be a good idea to clean house in this respect, but just that the chronic fatality factors in the traffic toll would not be weeded out in tests for driver licenses. The chronically reckless drivers can pass all the tests with their eyes closed. Their shortage is judgment, not skill. The cure for that is indefinite suspension of their licenses as soon as they have proved to be dangerous.

Joe Borrowed Tobacco

By Frank Tripp

As the medicine testimonials put it, the name and address are available on request. Beyond such guarantee of authenticity it is better that I just call the hero Joe, which was his name, and let it go at that.

Nevertheless Joe lived and this is a typical story of an erratic, irritable, many-faulted type of newspaperman who is scarier now, yet still exists and invariably has peculiar, rare ability.

Joe was nearing the zenith of his eventful career when I was a beginner. The first thing I learned about Joe was old stuff to the rest of the staff; that he smoked a pipe incessantly, yet never bought any tobacco—and that he went off on periodic toots, when his absence would be concealed from the business end of a small city morning newspaper.

My stipend was so meager that smoking was a real luxury. So after Joe had raided me into pauperism by snitching my tobacco for some weeks I invented a defense. We mostly smoked corncob pipes in the office; they sold for a nickel. I added six new ones to my kit, which gave me seven. When filled they would pretty nearly empty a can of tobacco.

EACH NIGHT when I went to work I'd fill the seven pipes, light them to char the tobacco, then hide my night's smokes in my desk. When Joe strolled over and said, "Frankie, just let me have a bit of tabacco"—he always put it that way—he'd find an empty can. When he discovered my ruse he said: "You're a cute young rooster; think I'll like you."

So it was that by the time Joe landed a job on the old Philadelphia North American we had become quite pals; what with my thrice rescuing him from gin mills and otherwise protecting his job.

It seemed lonely around the dingy old newsroom with Joe gone. The second night a telegram came for him. It wanted to know when he was coming. I wired back that Joe was on his way, fearing why he hadn't got there. Next night another wire came which said the job would be held open just one more day.

That was the last we heard of Joe for about six weeks. Then there came a picture postcard of a Maryland asylum. On it Joe revealed: "They've got me here; think I'm crazy—something I've long suspected. Regards to the boys, Joe."

The next news of Joe we heard on the stairway. He had come back and was trying to get past Uncle John Beman, the business manager, who had declared that he should never darken the Advertiser's door again.

BUT JOE DID get in. He needed a shave, his derby was crushed in and his Prince Albert looked like he'd slept in it under the boardwalk. After borrowing a pipe of tobacco, he related his experience something like this:

"Well, I had a walk between trains in Harrisburg. So I dropped in a bistro opposite the station. I got visiting with a fellow, missed my train, then went back there. You know how it is. The next thing I knew I was in the bughouse in Maryland and two weeks had elapsed since the curtain dropped in Harrisburg. Frankie, just let me have another bit of tabacco."

Summer's Swift Killer

Beaver Creek claimed another victim Friday—not its last.

The little shoes and scattered clothing of Charlotte Ann Fleming, strewn on the rock from where she fell to her death in the swift waters, serves as a mute reminder of the tragedy which befell the girl on the first day of her summer vacation.

At Fredericktown Sunday a man dove into the creek and injured his head when he struck submerged stones, pointing out further the hazards of swimming in unsupervised sites.

Throughout this summer of 1960, where ever men and women and young people swim, go boating or merely walk along the rivers, creeks and lakes, death probably will strike again and again in similar fashion.

Drowning will occur less frequently where there are life guards, where there are facilities for rapid rescue, where there is clear, uncontaminated water, where there is caution and care.

But drowning will occur — quickly and with little warning.

It will happen at Beaver Creek and in the Ohio River and in other waters, the result of foolishness, or carelessness or a chance slip.

The Red Cross Chapter is conducting its annual swimming class, for adults and children, and parents should warn their youngsters of the danger of going into the water without supervision. This should help reduce the peril.

Mr. K. Becomes Political Blight

By David Lawrence

No candidate is going to be elected president of the United States this year who is willing to kowtow to Nikita Khrushchev by participating with him in a so-called summit conference.

No candidate is going to be elected who is willing to gloss over the insults flung at the President of the United States by the Soviet dictator at Paris last month.

These predictions can be made today because there is every evidence that the American people do not believe in appeasement and do believe in the integrity of their own government.

Instead of the pettifoggery and carping criticism which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has allowed to become dominant in its so-called inquiry, the American people would like to see some sign of American sturdiness and American forthrightness expressed by the same committee, and an exposure to the world of the utter hypocrisy of the Soviet government in its distorted concepts of international relations.

For the real issue today is not what measures, clandestine or otherwise, America took to protect itself against a regime that has threatened the people of this country with a surprise attack but why the United States should ever again participate in a summit conference.

TO RECOGNIZE and accept dictatorship and give it the prestige of decency, as a summit conference inevitably does, is to frustrate the regular channels of diplomacy and to compromise the historic idealism of a free people.

The argument that the United States must deal with Khrushchev, because he is the only man who speaks for the Soviet Union, is the same argument that caused British Prime Minister Chamberlain and French Premier Daladier to go to Munich in 1938 to deal with Hitler.

It was, however, a form of appeasement that led to World War II because Hitler misconstrued willingness to go the summit as the weakness of a suppliant begging for peace at any price.

Former Secretary of State Dean Acheson has consistently opposed summit meetings.

He asks, in effect, what purpose ambassadors and ministers serve if not to carry on the vital business of their governments.

Again and again he has urged that the actual agreements be reached through the normal diplomatic channels and that, if heads of state are called in, this should be primarily to ratify what has already been agreed upon by secretaries of state or ambassadors.

Vice President Nixon sees the handwriting on the wall and the doom of summit conferences.

He said to a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization on Tuesday in Washington:

"While we do not rule out any meeting which might contribute to the cause of peace, certainly the world will now have greater confidence in the traditional methods of diplomacy and in discussions in the United Nations than in the summitry upon which Mr. Khrushchev has in the past insisted."

PRESENCE Eisenhower, buttressed by the advice of the late Secretary Dulles, stood out a long time against summit conferences.

He insisted that there must first be some evidence of probable agreement on pending questions. But he succumbed to the pressure — mostly from Democratic party stargazers — that attendance at the summit was somehow equivalent to an assurance of world peace and that an American president couldn't refuse to go to such meetings.

Meanwhile, Nikita Khrushchev demonstrates effectively the fallacies of the summit conference idea by his distortions and misrepresentations about what happened recently at Paris.

He now says he would have been willing to meet with President Eisenhower in a personal conference but got no encouragement.

The truth is he issued an ultimatum and demanded the humiliation of the President as the price of a consultation at Paris.

The Soviet dictator, moreover, does not explain why he refused to do business with the prime minister of Great Britain and the President of France, who did meet with him.

The best way to avoid war is to stand firm against summit meetings or any other form of appeasement.

If the British and French leaders want to meet with the Soviet Premier and work out an agreement on any European problem, the United States can promise to examine such an agreement after it is formulated.

To bow and scrape before Nikita Khrushchev, however, is as certain to lead to war as the concessions made in 1938 at Munich led to war with Hitler.

That's the real issue which the American people will wish to examine, especially if any candidate makes part of his platform a promised expression of regret to Khrushchev or any other form of apology, or if any candidate promises to appoint as secretary of state any man willing to appease the Communist regime in Moscow.

Through The Years

THIRTY YEARS AGO — Showers brought relief to East Liverpool and other sections of Ohio after four days of scorching heat and caused several deaths, damaged crops and temporarily tied up traffic on the low Ohio River.

Miss Elizabeth Harrison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. R. Harrison of W. 5th St., was graduated from Seton Hill College with a degree of bachelor of science in home economics.

Charles Excell assumed his duties as Wellsville motorcycle policeman.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — The district's youngest citizens, 160 of them, born in East Liverpool in the last year, and their mothers and friends attended the largest annual baby party on the City Hospital lawn.

Columbiana County business and professional men were urged to back a movement to mould opposition against "destructive local and state taxes" at a dinner meeting of the District Council of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce in the Travelers Hotel.

Members of Pvt. Eddy Post 66, Veterans of Foreign Wars, volunteered to train local young men in military tactics in a move for preparedness in event of war.

TEN YEARS AGO — Safety-Service Director Lawrence S. Bloor announced the award of two contracts to buy 3 trucks for a total of $5,795.

Mrs. Ilma Spooner was named president of the auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post of Wellsville.

Dam Project

WASHINGTON

Secretary of Interior Fred A. Seaton has a date soon with a 12-cubic-yard bucketful of concrete on the Colorado River in northern Arizona. He will trip the concrete into the Glen Canyon Dam site.

The ceremony will trigger a new phase of construction on the great multi-purpose structure which will result four years hence in a 700-foot-high barrier creating a 166-mile-long lake in the deep Glen Canyon of the Colorado. Some concrete already has been placed for test purposes.

The dam is a key structure in the Colorado River Storage Project which was authorized by Congress in 1956. Construction started the same year and more than 3,750,000 cubic yards of rock foundation have been excavated, leading up to the start of concrete placement.

The project already is considered to be one-third complete from a standpoint of money spent, although there is little evidence as yet of the structure ultimately to be finished.

Of a total estimated cost of $183,237,000 for the physical structure of the dam, excluding the power plant, about $63,500,000 will have been spent by the end of the fiscal year.

Total cost of the dam, with power plant, switchyard, and other features, including protection of the Rainbow Bridge National Monument in a side canyon 60 miles upstream, is estimated at $324,074,000.

Work thus far has been devoted to construction of two diversion tunnels around the dam site, coffer dams to keep the Colorado River out of the diggings, excavation to bedrock, and giant keyways in the canyon walls on either side.

Shakespeare wrote "Romeo and Juliet" in 1595.

Can Of Devils

By James Marlow

Opening Of Each Decade Affects U.S.

WASHINGTON

For 30 years the opening of a new decade has been like opening a can of devils. Each time American history was affected in a major way.

In 1930 the Great Depression, started by the market collapse late in 1929, got under way.

In 1940 the Germans, keeping the world guessing at the crushing of Poland in the fall of 1939, began World War II for real.

In 1950 the Korean War began.

In 1960 the summit conference collapsed, American Soviet relations reached their lowest point in years, the presidents of South Korea and Turkey were forced out, the world was uneasy, and changes seemed in the air.

The depression pushed the United States into isolation. It became so preoccupied with its own problems that it turned inward to solve them.

The result was a social revolution called the New Deal.

In 1940—when the Nazis turned on France, the Low Countries and Britain—this country began to arm, move out of isolation, take sides, and realize this is a small, interdependent world.

This country finally got into the war, abandoned its isolation as a peace time policy afterwards, joined the United Nations, and developed a permanent sense of international responsibility and leadership.

Came 1950 and the Korean War. By entering it, the United States demonstrated it was willing to act to prove its international role.

Because it was the prime example of communism's determination to push where it could unless stopped, that war welded the Western allies together for mutual defense in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. All the alliances which followed sprang from that realization.

No one is brash enough to claim he has the answer to what change the events of 1960 will bring about.

But each of the events at the beginning of each decade since 1930 has had an effect on American politics.

Just a few weeks ago the summit collapse and the Eisenhower administration's fumbling and lying about the U2 spy plane seemed certain to be a dominant issue in this year's presidential campaign.

Then Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev began his boorish personal attacks on President Eisenhower. Most Democrats and Republicans closed ranks against Khrushchev and rallied behind the President.

Attacking the President, it seems, is a right which Americans reserve for themselves. They want foreigners to keep out.

Conservatives In Texas

By Raymond Moley

HOUSTON, Tex. It has mystified many that while Dallas has generally elected conservative Democrats or Republicans to the state legislature and Congress, Houston has so often gone the other way.

Since 1956 the liberal wing of the Democratic party has had a majority in the Harris County committee and since 1958 liberal Democrats have represented the city in the legislature.

Houston, in fact, has been the center of activity of the liberals, who go by the name Democrats of Texas or DOT.

This has been due to the apathy and indifference of the business community to its political responsibility.

After the disastrous election of 1958, however, an awakening took place. The direction of this revival was to organize in the precincts and get out the vote of all those who preferred conservative government.

THERE WERE two phases of this movement. Searcy Bracewell, a former state senator and well-known lawyer, undertook to elect a conservative Democratic County Committee, while Walter Sterling, a businessman and the son of a former Texas governor, enlisted business and professional workers for conservative candidates for the eight seats in the state legislature.

An organization called Freedom in Action, created by Judge Ellwood Fouts, materially assisted in the conservative drive.

It should be noted that all of this effort was within the Democratic party.

The top management of many important businesses encouraged employees to get active in their precincts. Good candidates were selected. And an organized effort was made in all of the 266 precincts.

Legal steps were taken to stop fraudulent voting, which has generally been a factor in primary elections.

THE RESULT was a heavy majority of conservatives on the Democratic County Committee.

One of the eight candidates for the legislative seats was unopposed but in the remaining seven, three conservatives and two liberals were chosen. For the remaining two there will be a run-off primary.

There are high hopes that conservatives will win in those contests.

Texas has the very interesting method of electing delegates to the county conventions of the parties at precinct "conventions," held in the evening of the primary in stores, homes and on street corners. This year a large turnout of conservatives appeared. The conservatives swept these, too.

As a result of this upset, the moving spirit of DOT, Mrs. R. D. Randolph, is expected to be ousted as Democratic National Committeewoman from the state.

The result shows what can be done when conservatives make a real effort under intelligent leadership.

Houston has set an example for many other large cities in the nation. The potential vote is there. But it needs leadership to get it to the polls.

Brothers Helping Hand

By Omer Anderson

BERLIN

There is steady movement of Soviet engineers and technicians bound for the Caribbean through East Berlin, their main project reported to be the construction of an airstrip on the southern coast of Cuba.

Russia's "helping hand" to Castro began six weeks ago, according to informants. Around 250 Soviet technicians were cleared through East Berlin en route to Cuba since then.

The airport construction is being more or less masked under a program of general Russian economic development assistance to Cuba. Aside from the airstrip, the Soviets are helping build a sugar mill, a steel plant and an oil refinery.

The industrial construction program was drafted while Anastas Mikoyan visited Fidel Castro early this year. It will keep Soviet "economic assistance" active for several years.

The airstrip being built by the Soviets is designed to take the largest aircraft. It has a 12,500-foot runway with an unusually heavy concrete base. It is located near Matanzas.

From East Berlin the Soviet technicians are being flown to Havana via Paris.

Special facilities were built in Havana to receive them, including a special air terminal at Jose Marti Airport.

It was learned that the United States, alarmed by the implications of a big Soviet-built airstrip in Cuba's "middle of nowhere," has conferred informally with France about trying to suppress Soviet transit of this kind.

The French pointed out, however that there is nothing illegal about the Cuba-bound flights and hence have no grounds for interfering.

In any event, the French contended, nothing would be gained by harassing this traffic, as it would simply shift to another transit airport, presumably Copenhagen.

Odd Facts

Alexander Hamilton often disagreed with Thomas Jefferson. Yet when the decision was put to him if Jefferson should be President of the United States, Hamilton replied: "I have nothing in favor of Thomas Jefferson except that he is an honest man. I charge you make him President of the United States."

The Wildfowl Sanctuary in Ontario, Canada, stamps birdbands with passages from the Bible. Eskimos, who have found bands on birds killed for food, travel many miles to the nearest mission post to have "God's message" translated.

No estimate has been made on damage at the plant. The loss is insured. It will take several days to make complete repairs, officials said.

The principal user of electric power on Sunday, aside from homes, is the National Fireproof Corp. plant. Three electric kilns containing an estimated $7,000 in face tile were shut down. It was not known immediately if the tile was damaged.

Much damage was anticipated at the town's various grocery stores and markets as the refrigeration units were off. One dairy store gave away all its ice cream, which was starting to soften.

A fireman, David Gamble, 21, of 115 W. Main St., escaped injury when his car skidded off a road into a ditch while en route to the fire. He continued on foot. His 1958 car was damaged heavily.

The Civilian Defense unit from Lisbon provided small portable generators. One was put into use at the plant to provide light for repair work. The second was used by police and firemen to keep facilities operating at City Hall. The third generator was placed on standby for doctors in case of an emergency. There was none. The Ohio Bell Telephone Co. brought in a portable generator from Salem to keep its dial system in operation.

Eight years ago the plant was struck by lightning, knocking out a generator and causing some $50,000 damage. But the unit was only out about two hours.

The sheriff's office rushed deputies and patrol cars to the scene to aid in directing traffic. Police and fire auxiliaries also aided.

Baccalaureate exercises at East Palestine High School continued as scheduled, concluding before it became dark. They had planned to use candles if the program took longer.

During the storm, much hail fell. Many streets were flooded. The storm was accompanied by a high wind but no other damage was reported. The storm struck only a small area as Unity, about two miles north, had only a light drizzle. The storm lasted for an hour, from 4:30 to 5:30 p. m.

Pughtown Man Hurt In Route 2 Accident

A Pughtown man was injured when his station wagon went out of control and crashed into an embankment on State Route 2 Saturday night at 6:30. Hancock County sheriff's deputies reported.

William Virgil Crispell, 33, was driving south when he lost control near Elliott's Bend, deputies said.

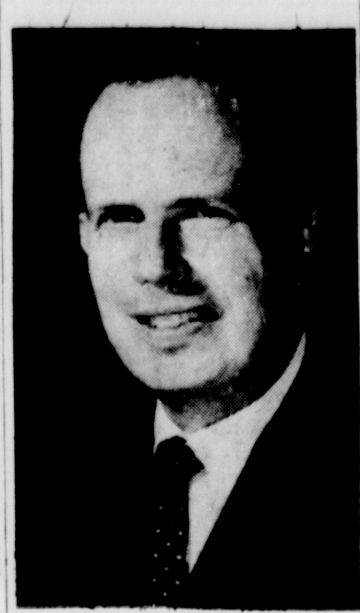

Crispell was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the forehead and lacerations and later released. Deputies listed damages of $300 to his 1958 model vehicle.

Deputies listed no passengers but a George Bartley, 53, of Weirton was treated at the hospital for lacerations of the forehead reportedly received in a mishap at Elliott's Bend.

Salem Woman Hurt In Deerfield Mishap

SALEM — Miss Evelyn Copacia, 22, of Jennings Ave. is in "fair" condition at Robinson Memorial Hospital at Ravenna with injuries suffered Sunday in a crash between her car and another on Route 14 near Deerfield in which 5 others were hurt.

Sheriff's deputies reported Miss Copacia's car collided almost head-on with one operated by Mrs. Gloria Giordano of Alliance.

Miss Copacia suffered a broken arm, facial cuts and internal injuries. Mrs. Giordano and two daughters, 7 and 1, and two other Alliance women in her car are in "satisfactory" condition.

Deputies said witnesses reported the Salem women's car appeared to swerve left of center at an intersection.

Truck Detour Takes Effect As Span Shuts

Five extra police helped detour heavy trucks to other spans in Steubenville and Monaca as the Chester Bridge was closed today for blacktop resurfacing.

Everything went smoothly in the first two hours after this Chester span closed at 9 this morning and at that time none of the truckers had elected to lay over to await the reopening of the bridge. Police Chief Americo Radeschi said. But arrangements have been made for the big rigs to park here if any of the drivers decides not to detour to Steubenville or Monaca, the chief said.

The detour or layover was necessary for any rig over 10 tons, the load limit of the Newell Bridge. Traffic is scheduled to resume over the Chester Bridge about 5 this afternoon when the resurfacing is complete.

The five extra police were stationed at strategic spots along Routes 30 and 7 to notify inbound truckers of the bridge's closing and explain the alternatives of detouring or laying over, the chief said. Officers are on duty at Dresden Ave. and Webster Way, W. 5th and Monroe Sts., on W. 8th St. at Westgate School, at the railroad crossing at Broadway and the River Rd. and at 5th and Market Sts.

Hancock County deputies are detouring heavy trucks and directing traffic at the West Virginia ends of the two spans.

The $22,000 resurfacing is being done by Edgar Spring, Inc., of New Philadelphia, contractor. In addition to the work on the Chester Bridge, his crews were at work on the west end of W. 3rd St. this morning.

Salsberry's Hearing Continued To June 27

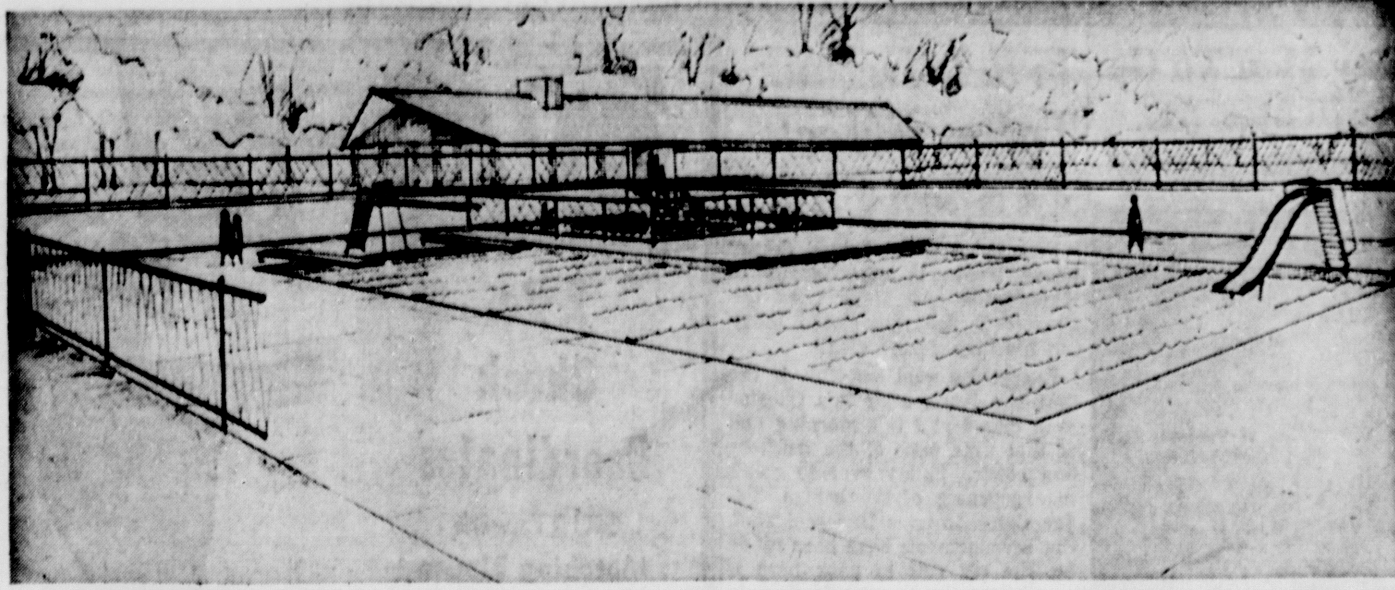

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today fixed a tentative continuance until June 27 in the case of Robert Salsberry, 34, of 208 W. 7th St., in connection with a struggle over a gun May 8 at the Travelers Hotel in which he and a hotel clerk were wounded because the other shooting victim still is a patient at City Hospital.

Salsberry originally had been slated tentatively to appear today on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon as an aftermath of the incident in which he was shot in the groin and Albert Barnes, 65, of 506 Sugar St., suffered a gunshot wound of the left hand and other injuries.

The hospital said Barnes' condition today is "good." The charge against Salsberry was filed May 10 by Lt. Mike Winters.

The main pool will be 3½ to 10 feet deep and the ell pool will be from 2 to 4 feet deep. A wading pool will be provided for small children. The project, designed by McGill & Smith Engineers of Bethel, will cost some $70,000. The 2-mill levy would continue for 10 years.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: How can I tell the man I'm going with to stop dying his hair? It looks awful. He thinks he looks younger but he actually looks older because the jet black hair doesn't go with the lines in his face.

This man is 53 and has never married. He's quite good-looking and takes great pride in his appearance. His younger brother, strikingly handsome, has steel gray hair. Kermit would be handsome with gray hair, too, but he doesn't realize it.

He has never admitted that his hair is dyed, so you see I have a touchy problem. Furthermore, I'm afraid he's dying it himself. When he has a fresh job there are dye stains along the hairline. Once he had some on his ear.

Please, Ann, tell me if I should tell him. And if so, how?—M.Q.

Dear M.Q.: Tell him — but in a very careful way. There's no point in demolishing the guy.

Here's a suggested approach: When you spot a gray hair (one or two are bound to be fugitives from the dye brush) exclaim with delight, "Oh, Kermit! You've got a gray hair. How marvelous! I can hardly wait till you get completely gray. You'll be so distinguished looking and handsome!"

'Unmarried' Husband

Dear Ann: I've been married 10 years but my husband hasn't, if you get what I mean. We have two children and I would have left him years ago if it weren't for them.

The problem is, Harvey's mother gives him money whenever he wants it (she has plenty) and he won't work. He hasn't held a job longer than a year since we were married 10 years ago.

He finds something wrong with the boss, his co-workers or the climate. Then he quits and we move. His mother always comes through with a few thousand dollars "to tide us over."

I've told her she's wrecking our marriage by giving her son money. She says, "He's all I have in the world. He's entitled to the money. His father earned it."

What can I do?—MARRIED TO A BOY.

Dear Married (if you can call it that): A man who becomes utterly dependent on crutches never will learn to walk alone.

Tell your husband YOU have self-respect even if he hasn't. Refuse flatly to live on his mother's handouts.

Invite him to go to work and stay at it or move out. Then insist on child support. I'm not suggesting a divorce but a separation may grow him up.

Courting Trouble

Dear Ann: I'm 17 and feel like 90. I'm in love with a fellow who works at a gas station near our house. He talked me into proving my love, which was a big mistake.

A few weeks ago I thought I was in trouble and told him. He called me a dumb bunny and said he wasn't going to get married to ANYBODY, regardless.

I was a lot luckier than I deserve because I was not in the trouble I thought. When I told him he got real sweet again and even bought me a box of candy.

I have a chance to go to college in the fall as my aunt lives in a city where there is a good state university. My boy friend says if I go we are through.

I suppose I'm foolish, but I love him very much and I don't want to lose him. Please help me—ARDIS.

P.S.: We get along fine now.

Dear Ardis: This boy has demonstrated that he's a no-good heel. If you continue to see him, much less let him rob you of a chance to get a college education, you deserve whatever you get — which I promise will not be good.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The government has started legal steps against the five men and women if contents had slot machines in their places of business that lacked the required federal tax stamp.

Internal Revenue Service agents last January carried off raids in Ohio, Brooke and Hancock counties and confiscated some 68 gambling machines. The filing of an

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Todd, 1105 Center St., Wellsville, and her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross E. Grimes, 2127 Sherwood Ave., East Liverpool.

$1.88 Price Set In Wheat Support

The basic minimum price-support rate for 1960-crop wheat will be $1.88 a bushel, C. C. Herron and G. M. Swick announced. They are chairmen of the Hancock and Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committees. The Columbiana County ASC office is at Lisbon. The others are at New Cumberland and Beaver. This rate is based on the minimum national average wheat support of $1.77 a bushel for the 1960 crop announced last summer. Loans will be available at the minimum rate early in the price-support period. The final national and county rates will be determined on the basis of supply and parity figures as of July 1, and any loans made at the minimum rate will be adjusted as necessary at that time.

In addition to the county rate, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation offices now have information on minimum rates for support wheat stored in terminals. Farmers needing terminal rate information may obtain it at their county office. In general, the terminal rate exceeds the county rate by the amount of handling and freight charges necessary to get the wheat to the terminal.

Vacation Cottage Requires Scrutiny

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

The vacation cottage sounds like a long-awaited dream to some women, when at long last the man of the house consents to rent or buy one. But is it really the answer to her summer vacation or will she have to work harder than she would at home?

Mom would do well to impress on the man of the house that there are a couple of questions to be asked before they sign on the dotted line. Here are some worth considering:

1. If the advertisement says "water," you'll want to know whether it is a lake or a quarry that is a bottomless pit, a threat to toddlers and a condition that will keep you on edge. Write to the local department of water supply if you can't get the information any other way.
2. "Mountain" is another ambiguous term. These could be hills, crags or steep cliffs that will necessitate penning up the children or accompanying them every time they are outdoors. Are there dangerous snakes?
3. How can the house be warmed if it turns cold? A rainy summer can result in a damp house with a miserable existence for all, unless there is a way to dry out.

How's Your Furniture Style I.Q.?

How is your "Furniture I.Q.?" Interior designers say it's much more fun to plan a room and shop for furniture when you can identify the various furniture styles.

Another tip they pass along is this: the height of fashion in room planning today is exposed hardwood floors with area of accent rugs. Complete floor covering has slipped behind in the style parade. Attractive oak or other hardwood floors set off with distinctive rugs, the experts explain, harmonize with any color plan and any choice of furnishings.

Here are a few distinguishing characteristics to look for in determining the style category of furniture seen in your shopping tours.

French Provincial—The cabriole leg is prominent. This is a leg shaped in a double curve, with the upper part swelling out. Early, formal French Provincial can be recognized by the scroll work that adorns the cabriole leg. Heavy pieces such as cabinets and chests, have short legs which continue the cabriole theme.

Colonial—Features turned elements, almost always in the legs. Also distinguishing are the simple balusters found in Windsor chairs. Heavier pieces generally have short thick legs with the curves on both inside and outside.

Modern—Clean, unadorned legs are identifying. Tapered, round legs are often found on sofas, chests and larger pieces. Performer wood and plastic seats and backs are frequent symbols of this style.

Contemporary—Has many features of Modern. In general, however, it utilizes rectangular and square shapes, as opposed to the curves seen in Modern.

Traditional—Embraces a number of styles, including Duncan Phyfe, Louis XVI, Chippendale, Adam, Sheraton and others. Two major identification keys may be said to apply: highly polished finished, and leg features. Each style possesses individual characteristics, though, such as the curved leg of Duncan Phyfe and the fluted leg of Louis XVI.

Choice of the correct flooring material, according to designers, is as important as the selection of furniture because floors are both structural and decorative. Oak is favored for floors on account of its combination of beauty, strength, durability and ease of upkeep.

U.S. Craftsmen Top Europeans In Floor Laying

NEW YORK—The time is ripe for more extensive use of exquisite patterned hardwood floors in American homes, says a noted authority on flooring.

David Erbe of William J. Erbe Co., which installs both the popular strip type and the more unusual styles of hardwood flooring, declares that flooring workmanship in the United States now is superior to that in Europe, where intricately patterned wood floors originated.

"American contractors could draw," he points out, "from a pool of the best hardwood flooring mechanics in the world."

"American products also are closer to perfection. The highly competitive atmosphere has forced installers to upgrade their work so as not to lose the job, and manufacturers to produce flooring that is well machined, properly kiln-dried and perfect fitting."

On a recent European trip, a leading flooring trade journal reports, Erbe purchased a number of antique floors for re-installation in contemporary American homes. Most were laid in the 18th century and have a mellowness and color that cannot be reproduced.

Erbe removes such floors piece by piece, numbering each unit according to a diagram he draws of the original installations. In their new locations the pieces are re-laid exactly as before.

Fence Screen Blots Eyesore

Does your back yard have some eyesores that you can't seem to eliminate? Do you want to divide off an area for child's play? Or do you have a vegetable garden you'd like to screen off?

Free-standing fences are the answer to all of these problems.

You can separate service yard, play yard, patio, or any other special use area of the yard with one of these free-standing fences.

A good free-standing fence makes your yard appear larger and adds a certain intrigue because you are always wondering what's on the other side. Some parts of the yard are permanently untidy, like a compost pile.

Free-standing fences need not be along property lines, but may appear as screening fences. They can be a beautiful addition to a yard. You can use any of hundreds of designs, such as attractive louvered style, board-on-board, or paneled solid board fences with tidy cap board that has recessed shelves for display of potted plants or bric-a-brac.

These fences can be permanent or temporary. Permanent ones should be sturdy, preferably with solid 4x4-inch cedar or fir posts. Posts should be dipped with creosote where they touch the ground. Standard sized boards and dimension lumber, which can be obtained at any retail lumber yard, are ideal for fence use. Western red cedar is a favorite for fence construction because of its long life, and Douglas fir is also popular. These fences can be stained or left natural to weather to a silvery gray color.

Patio Design Seen Best As Separate Unit

If you want patio privacy without enclosing the entire back yard, the patio should be designed as a separate unit.

The way to do it is to encircle the patio with privacy—creating screens, leaving the rest of the yard wide open.

If the patio is snugly close to the house, screens will be needed on only three sides, or perhaps on only two. Solid board styling isn't necessary to insure privacy. In fact, something light and airy in design is often just as effective.

For example, a favorite type of screening is made of 1x2-inch western red cedar strips that are spaced an inch apart and set in top and bottom cap boards with supporting 4x4 cedar posts. Although this design is decidedly peek-a-boo, the neighbors would need X-ray vision to see through.

The screens should be tall, about 7 or 8 feet, but if they're built with the bottom runner a foot above the ground, any possibility of a wafted effect immediately disappears. There's another design trick that will keep the screens on the light side. Set them a foot or so back from the edge of the patio and, in the open space, plant a variety of shrubbery, clusters of ground-hugging flowers, and a few willowy bamboo shoots in the corners.

Then, add shrubbery on the outside of the screens to blend them into the yard's over-all landscaping scheme.

A wood shade that captures cedar's natural coloring or driftwood stain are the best finishes to use for a patio enclosure such as this.

New Building Ideas Assure 'Flexibility'

The trend of families towards choosing homes as they do cars, on the strength of appearance as well as quality, is prompting architects to create houses that will remain "timely" for an indefinite period.

Today the average family is looking for more than just adequate shelter, points out George Schuchman, architectural consultant to Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. They want a house that is pleasant to look at and also suitable for the type of furnishings and decor they prefer.

"This has resulted in a noticeable swing away from the fixed 'period' home," he said. "Styling is currently following more neutral lines, with design features characteristic of two or even three different types of houses, now often attractively combined under one roof. This wide range of flexibility lets homemakers use practically any decorating scheme without having it appear out of place in the overall design of the house."

Aside from integral styling, builders are also using new construction techniques to simplify the adaptability of a home.

One such device outlined by Mr. Schuchman is a detachable window muntin or "grid" for multipaned windows. Unlike previous types where each division was a separate piece of glass, the popular idea now is to make the window a single large glass unit and create the pattern by means of a detachable grid which fits into the frame.

Because windows exert a strong influence in determining the "period" classification of a home, the grids themselves can be used to help create the particular type of architecture the homeowner wants, whether it is contemporary, Colonial, Spanish or traditional English.

Aside from their part in styling, the removable grids also offer time and money saving advantages, Mr. Schuchman said. Since they are made for frames using standard sizes of Thermopane insulating glass, homeowners can realize substantial savings in window installations throughout the house.

When the glass needs cleaning it is no longer necessary to scrub into dozens of hard-to-get-at corners. The grid comes out easily leaving only one large glass area to polish. Painting also takes only a few minutes as there is no need to carefully "strip" the frame to avoid getting paint on the glass.

Borrowing Of Outdoor Space Expands Home

You can enlarge your home by borrowing living space from the outdoors.

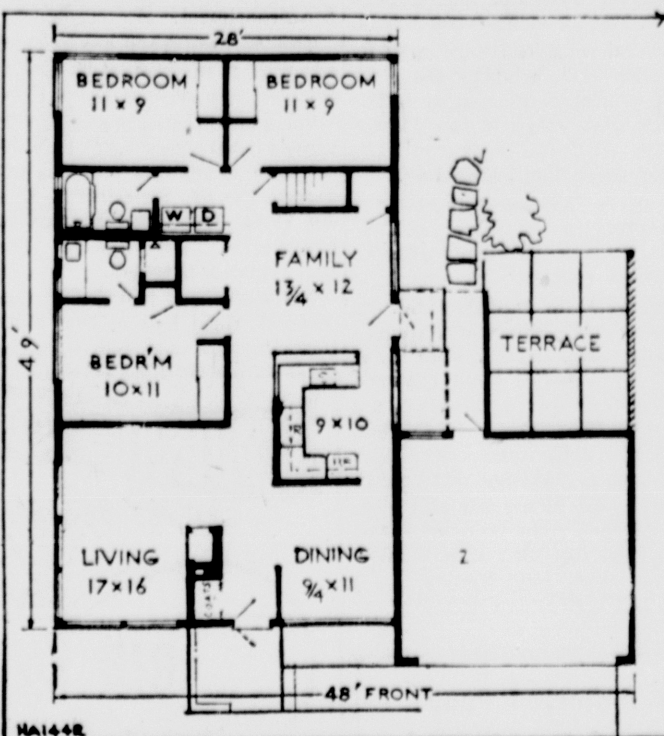

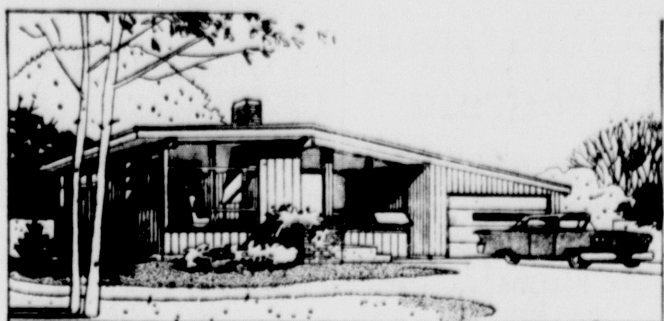

The best way is to open up your walls so that they seem to embrace your garden area. Then, to tie home and garden together into an intimate living area, extend your walls into the garden.

If your home is paneled in an interesting softwood such as Douglas fir or western red cedar, you can use the identical material in the gardens for screens, extended walls or even sectional wall screens.

Using the same wood makes the marriage between outdoors and indoors even more complete. Another good idea is to build a wood deck outdoors adjoining the living room and at the same level as the living room floor. This further creates the illusion of an extended livingroom, excepting the ceiling is blue sky or stars.

No Moisture

Wood windows do not accumulate moisture during cold weather and there is 1,400 times less heat loss in wood through conductivity than in metal sash.

NARROW RANCH. This 7-room ranch can be built on a lot with a 75-foot frontage (2-car garage) or 60-foot lot with 1-car garage. Vertical redwood siding dresses up exterior. Features are raised corner fireplace in livingroom, centrally-located U-kitchen, 2 baths, family room and washer-dryer area. The house has 1,248 square feet of floor space and the design HA144R, is by architect Jan Reinert, Post Office Box 98, New Port Richey, Fla.

Proper Insulation Keeps Heat Out During Summer

One of the virtues of proper insulation is that it keeps heat out of the house during the summer as well as cutting heat loss during the winter. Aside from the comfort value, this saves money by reducing power used for air conditioning and slicing fuel consumption.

A considerable percentage of the insulating materials sold today is applied by the home owner himself. One of the easiest, least expensive forms of insulation is applied by pouring mineral fibers between the joists of an unfinished attic. It requires no mechanical skill and no special tools, since the insulation comes in convenient bags from which it can be poured directly in place. Generally, an 18-pound bag insulates 25 square feet of attic space to a depth of 3 and 1/4 inches. An average attic of 1,000 square feet can be insulated for $50 to $75 depending on the depth applied. In spreading the insulation, it is a good idea to use a stick or the handle of a mop. Doing it this way has a tendency to fluff the material, giving it maximum insulating efficiency.

Most of the time, the man of the house knows how to turn off the water in the main line. More often than not, however, he keeps it a secret from his wife and other members of the family.

Thousands of words have been written and spoken over the years about the necessity of placing tag on the various shut-off valves and controls so that everybody in the house can find the proper fixture in an emergency. We had supposed that the warnings had made some impression — until we talked the other day to William Mulholland, a tube engineer for a leading copper water tube manufacturer.

Discussing the subject of plumbing in general, he pointed out that home owners waste millions of dollars a year because they do not know what to do when a leak occurs. Much of this money could be saved if the person at home at the time knew exactly how to turn off the water until the plumber arrived.

In some cases, it is necessary only to use the shut-off valve for that section of the water line involved. In others, the main supply water line should be turned off—as, for instance, when the specific point of leakage can not be located.

Home Interiors Follow Exterior

Designers looking for new ways to give variety and distinction to home interiors have come up with some remarkable ideas.

Probably one of the most interesting variations is the use of the identical exterior siding of the home for interior walls.

If boards and battens are used, the walls take on an exciting three-dimensional effect, for the battens, set out from the wall by the thickness of the boards, form an interesting shadow pattern.

These board- and -batten interior walls may be finished in several different ways, all of which are very acceptable and depend upon the tastes of the owners. Soft sand colors or even solid white is interesting, but many prefer to use clear plastic or varnish to retain the beautiful texture of the woods.

Boards and battens for exterior siding generally are either western red cedar or Douglas fir and either of these woods, the architects advise, work admirably for interior walls.

"Weren't we smart dogs to get Central GAS Air Conditioning"

Casper I'm as cool as a hound's nose. And just sniff that air. Sure makes me feel the Bassett: like a million.

George: Hey, I just thought of something. My hay fever hasn't acted up once.

Casper: That's because the air's filtered and cleaned. Say did you hear what our neighbor said when he was over here? Surprised it wasn't noisy or too cold.

George: He almost flipped when we told him a GAS Air-Conditioning Unit would both heat and cool the whole house, too.

Casper: He didn't know there are two kinds of GAS Air Conditioning available. The single unit Arkla-Servel or the new Bryant Add-On Unit that connects to Warm Air GAS Heating Systems. Then I told him the Gas Company handled all the financing, including installation. No down payment, 5 years to pay. And the low monthly installments were just paid with our Gas bills. That got him!

Your Gas Company sells, supervises installations, guarantees satisfaction and finances GAS Air-Conditioning Systems.

2 Are Named By Key Club

Two were selected as voting delegates for the international convention in July when the Key Club of East Liverpool High School met Friday morning in the American Legion Post 4 home.

Gary Hicks, president, and Jeff Taylor, secretary, were named voting delegates to the convention July 3-6 in Boston. Alternates will be Joe Costello, vice president, and Ray Goodman, treasurer.

A membership committee was named to study records of prospective members for the 1960-61 school term. Costello is chairman and members are Don Prescott, David Lampman, Keith Nelson and Wayne Locke. Students must have maintained a grade average of C or better in all work to be eligible. Candidates are required to fill out application forms.

It was announced that the club presented a new, 50-star flag recently to the Riverview Cemetery. William Brokaw was in charge of the presentation. Eleven members attended worship services last Sunday in the Calvary Methodist Church. It was announced that a party held for the patrol boys of the city school system May 28 was a success. Bob George, Steve Cooper and Locke were chairmen.

The club decided to hold meetings during the summer on the second Wednesday of each month at 7:15 p. m. in the Legion home. Beginning this week, the club will hold dances in the post home on Wednesday and Saturday nights from 8:30 to 11:30. Eligible to attend are students from ELHS and Beaver Local in the upper four grades. No seventh or eighth graders may attend. Admission will be 25 cents. The next meeting is Wednesday night.

Big U.S. Balloon Launched To Get Cosmic Ray Data

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — A huge balloon, described as the world's largest, soared slowly westward across the lower United States today in an experiment designed to provide more information about cosmic rays.

The 500-foot diameter balloon was moving along in the stratosphere at an altitude of 114,000 feet. It was expected to pick up speed and come down somewhere in Texas Wednesday.

The balloon carried a stack of nuclear emulsion film sheets weighing 800 pounds.

Plans called for the $50,000 package of film to be parachuted to earth shortly before the skyscraper balloon completes its flight.

The exposed film will be distributed to scientists of 13 nations for analysis over a two-year period.

The flight began early Sunday at the Glyco Naval Air Station near Brunswick.

The launching was termed the most perfect yet achieved by the Office of Naval Research, co-sponsor of "Project Glyco" with the National Science Foundation.

Truck Bought At Wellsville

The Wellsville volunteer fire department has purchased a new three-quarter-ton emergency truck which is scheduled to be delivered within the next two weeks.

The panel truck is being specially constructed and will be equipped with all types of modern emergency equipment.

The chassis was purchased from GMC and the cab and panel housing are being built by Harry Sutphen & Associates of Columbus.

The equipment will include oxygen tanks, stretchers, smoke masks, portable light plants, flood lights and a new "porta-power" pack for use in rescuing persons trapped inside automobiles, under fallen walls or roofs or similar situation.

The unit consists of rams and pries operated with hydraulic pressure.

The volunteers already own a fire truck and station wagon. The new truck will replace the station wagon.

The equipment is being purchased with funds from the annual homecoming celebrations. Earl Mundy is president.

The oldest wind, string, and percussion instruments are, in order, the fife, the lyre or harp, and the drum.

Young To Urge That U.S. Sever Ties With Soviet

WILBERFORCE, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Stephen M. Young (D-Ohio) says he will propose in the Senate that the United States sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union if Premier Khrushchev continues his vilification of President Eisenhower.

Young told a newsmen Sunday, while here to address graduates of Central State College, that the U.S. should withdraw its ambassador from Moscow for consultation and retain him here indefinitely "if that Communist dictator continues his vilification and bombasting of the President."

The State Department announced on Saturday that Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson will return from Moscow in the middle of this month to receive an honorary degree from a university. While in this country, the department said, Thompson will stop in Washington for consultations.

But the department said the recent worsening of U.S.-Soviet relations had nothing to do with Thompson's return. The honorary degree was the only reason for Thompson's trip, the department added.

It did not name the university.

Driver Jailed After Cruiser Averts Crash

A 30-year-old East Liverpool man was jailed on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol early Sunday after his auto forced a police cruiser off St. Clair Ave.

Bobby Davis, 603 E. 3rd St., was pursued and arrested by Patrolmen W. E. Nott and Paul A. Burson Jr. after Nott swerved their cruiser off the street to avoid a collision with Davis, police reported.

Officer Nott said he was driving north on St. Clair Ave. when the southbound auto forced the cruiser off the street about 2:29 Sunday morning. He turned the cruiser around and pursued Davis, overtaking him and placing him under arrest at Orchard Grove Ave. Davis was driving on the wrong side of the street when halted, he reported.

Davis, unemployed and the father of 5, pleaded guilty to the drunken driving charge when arraigned before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff this morning. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to 3 days in jail and had his operators' permit suspended for 6 months.

Three other drivers were fined at hearings this morning and the case of a fourth was postponed. Jeremiah Vuletic of Box 46, Smiths Ferry, was given a suspended fine of $10 and costs when he pleaded guilty to failure to register his car in Pennsylvania for 1960. Cited at 10:50 a. m. Sunday on Anderson Blvd., he was driving an auto with a 1959 sticker on the license plate, police said.

Vuletic told Judge Chertoff he has been unable to afford the $10 registration fee because he has been unemployed. He said he took the car out of the garage for the first time in weeks "to charge the battery."

Richard E. Balser, 359 Garfield St., was fined $5 and costs when he pleaded guilty to crashing a traffic light at Pennsylvania Ave. and Boyce St. at 12:21 a. m. Saturday. James Arthur Madison, 22, of Salineville, was fined $10 and costs on a charge of speeding 50 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on Harvey Ave. at 1 a. m. Saturday.

Defense Nearing End Of Case In Hargrove Trial

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The defense neared the end of its case today in the trial of Floyd E. Hargrove who is charged with killing the husband of the woman he testified he still loves.

The state maintains the handsome delivery truck driver fired a sniper bullet that killed Charles R. Clark in the Clark home last Christmas Eve because he coveted Clark's beautiful wife, Lois, 31.

But Louis A. Turi Jr., Hargrove's lawyer, insists the slaying was "a terrible, freakish accident." He was tried to persuade the jury that someone who was target shooting accidentally fired the rifle slug that pierced Clark's forehead after it crashed through the kitchen window of the Clark's home in Mentor.

Sick, Sick Phils Knock Pins From Under Pirates Twice

JIM PIERSALL, Cleveland's center-fielder, is shown wearing the over-sized Little League type batting helmet while at bat in the fifth inning of the second game against Detroit Sunday in Cleveland. The wearing of the helmet precipitated a verbal clash and a $50 fine for Tiger pitcher Pete Burnside levied by plate umpire John Flaherty for throwing at Piersall. The catcher is Red Wilson. (UPI Telephoto)

Piersall Wears New Protection

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jittery Jim Piersall has introduced a new Little League style batter's helmet into the American League to the delight of local fans and the fury of the Detroit Tigers against whom the Cleveland centerfielder felt he needed protection.

The helmet, an oversize job with ear flaps, was donned by Piersall when he came to bat in the fifth inning of Sunday's nightcap. On the mound was southpaw Pete Burnside off whom Piersall clubbed his seventh home run of the season in the third inning.

In running out his homer, Piersall came into third base full speed then stopped, doffed his cap and shouted at the Detroit dugout.

When he came up in the fifth, Piersall got such a riding from Detroit catcher Red Wilson that Umpire John Flaherty stepped between them.

Burnside's first two pitches were inside, causing Piersall to jump back, and the third one appeared to be aimed at Piersall as he moved out of the box. This caused Flaherty to rush to the mound to warn Burnside about throwing at the batter—a warning that carried an automatic $50 fine.

Piersall left the game for the rubbing table after the sixth inning and when the game was over General Manager Frank Lane kept reporters from talking to him.

Lane said Piersall, who suffered a nervous breakdown in 1952, was "very tired and crying."

"Give him a break, fellows," Lane said. "You can't talk to him now. He's been trying to umpire, play centerfield, help the ground crew and do a few other things."

The helmet Piersall wore was Lane's idea. Lane got it about ten days ago after ordering it designed by a sporting goods manufacturer because he feels all batters should wear better protective headgear. Lane said he was looking for someone to try it out.

Manager Joe Gordon said he removed Piersall because the centerfielder "became sick to his stomach and dizzy."

"He's an emotional, high-strung guy and simply became exhausted," Gordon said. "His leaving the game had nothing to do with the incident up there at bat."

Gordon said he "told Jim he was asking for it wearing that big helmet, but he said they were going to throw at him anyway, and he wanted the protection."

Manager Jimmy Dykes angrily accused Piersall of inviting Burnside to pitch at him.

"When you play to the people, you got to invite it, and you got to get it," Dykes said. "Any pitcher with red blood in his veins would do it."

3 Golfing Greats Fire Away In Playoff At Memphis Open

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A dramatic playoff in the $30,000 Memphis Open today had three of golf's greats swinging for top money — Ben Hogan, Tommy Bolt and Gene Littler.

They made the regulation 72 holes over the 6,500-yard, par 34-36-80 Colonial Country Club course in 7-under-par 273s to top a 144-man field.

It was a cliff hanger finish. Hogan, his game still shaky after a scrambling 73 that cost him the lead, birdied two under pressure to come back up. The Fort Worth hawk carded his final bird on the 18th for a final 68.

Making his run after starting the fourth round three strokes off the pace, Bolt shook off a jolting hospital bulletin to make a full steam finish with birds on 17 and 18 for a 67.

And Littler charged in from deep in the ranks, leaping 18 names on the scoreboard with a smooth 32-32-64. The slender San Diego pro had taken a 74 on his first 18 and barely made the halfway cutoff.

Bolt, of Crystal River, Fla., was on the 16th green when notified that his wife, Mary Lou, was undergoing surgery at a hospital here. She has been ailing since the birth of a son last November.

Physicians said she came through the hour-long operation in good shape. But the scheduled sudden death playoff was switched to an 18-hole round so Bolt could head for the hospital.

Giants Also Lose To Cardinals, 9-4

By The Associated Press

You'll have to pardon the Pittsburgh Pirates if they refuse to sympathize with the oft-defeated, much-depleted and last-seeded Philadelphia Phillies.

Expected to fatten up their first-place National League lead Sunday over the undermanned Phillies, who have four men in the hospital and others who at times play like sick men, the Pirates absorbed two stunning defeats in which they were held to a total of one run. The scores were 2-0 and 4-1.

In the opener, Pittsburgh managed 10 hits off Gene Conley but the 6-8 right-hander did not permit a Pirate runner to go beyond second base. The Bucs also out-hit the Phils in the nightcap, but they barely avoided being shut out again, by Jim Owens, thanks to Dick Stuart's homer in the eighth.

St. Louis' 9-4 triumph over San Francisco enabled the Pirates to finish the day with a one-game lead over the Giants. Milwaukee closed to within 4 1/2 of the lead by splitting with Cincinnati. The Braves won 4-1 after Cincinnati had copped the opener 3-2. Chicago's Cubs outslugged Los Angeles 12-8.

Baltimore increased its AL lead to 2 games over Cleveland with a 6-5 decision over Washington as Detroit held the Indians even in a twin bill. The Tigers won the first game 7-2 and the Indians took the second 9-0. Chicago's White Sox whipped Kansas City 2-0 twice. New York swept Boston, 5-4 and 8-3.

The Phils got 5 hits in each game to hang tough defeats on Bob Friend and Harvey Haddix. First-inning singles by Bobby Del Greco and Tony Taylor and Tony Curry's scoring grounder were enough to account for the opener. Home runs won the nightcap for the Phillies. Haddix allowed but two hits in six innings but one was Ted Lepcio's first home run of the season. Cal Neeman's three-run clout off reliever Jim Umbricht in the seventh was the clincher.

Indians Split Doubleheader With Detroit

CLEVELAND (AP)—Just about the time Cleveland Indians fans were feeling bad about Gary Bell losing his third straight, along came this new (again) right-hander, Bobby Locke, and things got brighter.

Locke, 26-year-old Pennsylvanian who was recalled last Thursday from Indianapolis where he had won six and lost two, pitched his first complete major league game—a 9-0, six-hit conquest of the Detroit Tigers.

The Indians lost the first game 7-2, with Bell yielding eight hits and five runs. Gary was removed in the sixth inning after Rocky Colavito hit his seventh home run of the season; Chico Fernandez doubled, and Eddie Yost singled him home.

The split dropped the Indians another half game back of the pace-setting Baltimore Orioles who defeated Washington 6-5 to take a two-game edge.

Jim Bunning handcuffed Cleveland with six hits in the opener—one a homer by Ken Aspromonte in the eighth; Jim Piersall singled in Walt Bond, who had walked, for the other Cleveland score in the third.

Piersall's seventh homer of the season in the third inning of the nightcap came after Locke had walked and broke a scoreless tie. That homer was off Pete Burnside who drew a $50 fine from Umpire John Flaherty for throwing at the Cleveland centerfielder when Piersall came to bat in the fifth.

Piersall was expecting Burnside to give a hard time from the mound, for he wore a big new helmet with ear guards—much to the delight of the crowd of 26,347.

The Indians tore the second game wide open with five runs in the eighth off Ray Sempach and Tom Morgan. Catcher Hank Foiles, also making his season debut with the Indians who got him last week in a trade, started this rally with a home run.

Steve Bilko of Detroit got a homer in the last inning of the opener off reliever Mike Lee.

The Indians got to Boston for four games starting Tuesday night, and then to New York for another four and return to the Stadium a week from Tuesday for a four-game series with Baltimore.

Pender, Sugar Meet For Title

By The Associated Press

Paul Pender, the New York and Massachusetts world middleweight boxing champion, will defend his limited title Friday against Sugar Ray Robinson who has won the crown five times.

Robinson, suspended by the Maryland commission for failing to appear for a May 16 bout and later set down in New York, has escaped official wrath in Massachusetts where the commission found "no compelling reason" for going along with the suspensions.

Pender won the two-state title Jan. 22 by upsetting Robinson on a split decision at the Boston Garden, which also will be the scene of the 15-round rematch. The two judges voted for Pender by a wide margin but the referee had Robinson on top.

Gene Fullmer is the champion recognized by the NBA which stripped Robinson of the title May 4, 1959 for failing to defend within the specified time limit.

The Pender-Robinson rematch will be carried on NBC radio and television at 9 p.m. EST with Boston and Providence blacked out on TV for the Sam Silverman promotion.

Joyce Ziske Wins In Women's Golf

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP)—"Drive for show and putt for dough" is an expression familiar to all golfers.

When you can do both well, you can pick up a big share of the marbles. Joyce Ziske can, and did, and won top money in the $7,500 Wolverine Women's Open Golf Tournament that closed Sunday at Hillcrest Country Club.

The Wisconsin pro, a long-hitter whose putter sometimes gives her anxious moments, won by three strokes over Betsy Rawls, Wiffi Smith and Mary Lena Faulk in the 72-hole event.

Miss Ziske's winning total was 299, one under par at Hillcrest's 6,500-yard layout. She closed with a par-equaling 37-38—75 after previous rounds of 73, 78 and 73. She earned $1,313.

Spike Briggs Is Critical

BENNINGTON, Vt. (AP)—Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, 48, noted sports figure and former president of the Detroit Tigers, lay in critical condition here today following a cerebral hemorrhage.

Briggs, the scion of a prominent Detroit family, came east to attend the graduation Sunday of a son, James, from Williams College, at nearby Williamstown, Mass. The senior Briggs didn't make the ceremony.

He was felled on the campus Saturday and rushed to Henry Putnam Memorial Hospital here.

Mrs. Briggs said Sunday, "He is in very critical condition. They just can't tell us anything, what the future might hold."

She said he was not in a coma, but did not seem to be aware of what was going on.

The late Walter O. Briggs, Sr., founder of Briggs Manufacturing Co. and longtime owner of the Tigers, broke his son into baseball.

When Briggs Sr. died in 1952, Spike became president of the Detroit Baseball Co. He sold the club in the fall of 1956 to a group of businessmen for a then-record $5,500,000. Briggs became general manager, but resigned under fire in 1957.

Little League Scoreboard

4-Way Scramble Forms In National Division

After Saturday's action, the National Division of the Little League looks like a four-way dead heat.

Burbick's upset McBurney's, 6-5, to throw the league into a four-way tie with all teams showing 3-3 records.

In the American Division, Golden Star dropped its second game to Millirons, 7-4, and Homer Laughlin's marked up its first victory of the season by nipping Traveler's Hotel, 8-7.

Mike Hughes scattered five hits and fanned eight in pitching Burbick's to a victory over league-leading McBurney's. His teammates backed him with seven hits, including a triple and single by Emory Brewer. Hughes had a pair of singles to help himself.

Millirons put on its hitting shoes by collecting 13 safeties to whip first place Golden Star.

The big guns at the plate were Rick Cunningham who went three-for-three while Don Cunningham had three hits in four trips and Bruce Ingles stroked two doubles.

Ingles was the winning hurler and struck out five. Mike MacFarlane collected a single and double for the losers.

Laughlin's pushed across the winning run in the last of the fifth inning to nip Travelers.

Two home runs featured for the winners as Dan Flasco blasted a solo roundtripper and Dave Gamble belted one with two teammates aboard.

Jerry Vaughn was the winning pitcher, allowing seven hits.

Lawrenceville Picks Up 11-2 Win For First

Sunday
East Palestine vs. East Liverpool, at East Palestine

Negley at Chester, Crucible Field, Midland

in Midland and Negley hipped Salem, 4-3, in a game called after six innings because of rain.

The East Liverpool-Chippewa game only went five innings when the rains came, but the local nine had piled up a 6-3 margin.

Manager John Adnason's team broke on top with four runs in the first inning, then fastballing Jim Dickey allowed Chippewa six hits the rest of the way. Dickey fanned six; Kolson was the losing hurler.

East Liverpool showed up strong at the plate by collecting 9 hits. Lorin Howard, leftfielder for the locals, had a perfect day with three safeties in three trips.

Bob Gessford, East Liverpool leadoff man, smacked a double for the only extra base knock of the game.

After piling up the four runs in the first inning, East Liverpool added single markers in the fourth and fifth frames. Chippewa counted two runs in the first and one in the fourth off Dickey.

Don Shaw, better known for his pitching ability, sparked Lawrenceville to its overwhelming victory Sunday.

Shaw, playing shortstop, belted a grand slam homer in the second inning to send Lawrenceville on the way to its first victory in two starts.

Shaw also collected his second hit, but had to leave the game later because of a foot injury.

Vic Reed was winning hurler, allowing six hits and fanning 10 in his nine-inning stint.

Reed gave up single runs in the second and third innings. Lawrenceville packed all of its scoring into the first four frames, with two in the first four in the second and third innings and one in the fourth.

Frederick stroked three singles for winners while Owens and Sonny Pugh each collected a pair of safeties. Lawrenceville suffered another injury when Pugh left the game with a cut on his right hand.

Post 374 Nine Drops 2 Games

Two Beaver Valley teams handed East Liverpool Post 374 a pair of setbacks in exhibition games over the weekend.

Sunday, New Brighton blanked Post 374, 10-0, and on Saturday, Beaver tacked a 6-1 setback on the locals.

Two New Brighton pitchers combined to limit East Liverpool to only four hits Sunday.

Bob Mills started for Post 374 Sunday, but New Brighton scored five runs in the first two innings, added four more in the fourth and one in the fifth.

Myers and McKinnon collected two hits each for East Liverpool's only safeties.

Kenny Cunningham suffered the loss in Saturday's game with Beaver.

Beaver jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and clinched the victory with a three-run uprising in the sixth.

Ensinger paced 374 at the plate by stroking two of the seven safeties.

Post 374 committed five errors and left 12 men stranded in the Beaver contest.

The Junior Legion nine opens its regular league season against Cadiz Sunday at the Crucible Field in Midland.

Chisox Hurlers Turn In Shutouts; Orioles Widen Lead With 6-5 Win

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Chicago White Sox boss Bill Veeck created a lot of excitement in the Windy City by landing such big fish as Minnie Minoso, Gene Freese and Roy Sievers in major trades since the close of last season.

There was hardly a ripple, however, when he hauled in a couple of nondescript pitchers, southpaw Frank Baumann and right-hander Russ Kemmerer, in minor transactions with rival American league clubs.

Yet it's just because of these one-time hapless hurlers that the defending champions are back in the thick of the AL pennant race today, only three games behind the first-place Baltimore Orioles. Kemmerer, who rarely won for Washington, and Baumann, oft-beaten with Boston, turned in back-to-back 2-0 shutouts in the White Sox doubleheader sweep over Kansas City Sunday.

The 28-year-old Kemmerer, purchased May 18, doled out three hits to win his second since joining the Sox. Baumann, obtained in a winter trade for first base flop Ron Jackson, limited the A's to seven hits in the nightcap for his second straight shutout.

The double triumph enabled the third-place Sox to climb to within one game of runner-up Cleveland, which split with Detroit. The Indians won 9-0 after the Tigers had taken the opener 7-2. Baltimore widened its lead to two games over the Indians with a 6-5 decision in Washington. New York slapped down Boston twice 5-4 and 8-3.

In the National League, Philadelphia's lowly Philie stunned Pittsburgh by sweeping a pair from the league-leading Pirates 2-0 and 4-1. St. Louis walloped San Francisco 9-4 and the Chicago Cubs outslugged Los Angeles 12-8. Cincinnati and Milwaukee split, the Reds winning the opener 3-2 and the Braves taking the second game 4-1.

Chicago newcomers Freese and Minoso also were key operators in the White Sox' first game victory. Freese doubled in the fourth and scored on Luis Aparicio's single to end a scoreless pitching duel between Kemmerer and Dick Hall. Minoso's seventh homer added an insurance run in the sixth.

Another comparative White Sox newcomer, Ted Kluszewski, scored the first run in the nightcap after hitting a double in the second inning. Sherm Lollar's single scored him. Ned Garver, who had to leave after two innings because of a knee injury, was tagged with his fifth loss.

The Sox have won six of their last 12. Baumann and Kemmerer have been responsible for four of the triumphs.

Woodling Has Been There Before

BALTIMORE (AP) — Gene Woodling, one of the few old Birds on the roster of the league-leading Baltimore Orioles, knows how it feels to reach the pot of gold at the end of the World Series rainbow.

If the Orioles can keep anywhere near their present pace, the 37-year-old outfielder may get that October gleam in his eyes again.

"If we're still around the top by mid-August or the first of September, we'll have the advantage in the last month with our strong pitching," Woodling said.

The stretch-drive pitching of Alie Reynolds, Vic Raschi and Ed Lopat, he said, was one of the chief factors in the New York Yankees' drive to five straight championships (1949-53).

Woodling frankly admits he has been fooled by the performance of the young Orioles. "If they can just hold their own now and get established, they'll be mighty rough. This club has tremendous potential and nine pitchers who can both start and relieve."

For the present, Woodling sums up the situation succinctly: "The Yankee teams won. We haven't yet."

Mishap At Corner Damages 2 Autos

A collision at Lincoln Ave. and Smith St. Saturday damaged the cars of two Glenmoor drivers, police reported.

The crash at 9:35 a. m. involved a 1956 two-door sedan driven by Ronald W. Walters, 49, and a 1953 four-door sedan operated by Estel Joyce Rose, 45, officers said. There was damage to the left side of the Walters car and the left front bumper of the Rose auto, police said.

Walters was driving north on Lincoln Ave. and preparing to turn onto Smith St. and the woman driver was turning from Smith St. onto Lincoln Ave., police said.

Meanwhile, Joe Commarato, 21, of 1223 Center St., Wellsville, told police the left side of his 1958 sedan was damaged by a hit-skip vehicle Sunday night while parked at Lake Marwin. He said he discovered the damage about 11 p. m. Police were furnished descriptive data on the offending car.

Payments under the 1960 program will not be made until mid-summer of 1961. Payments under the 1959 wool program will be made this summer. Marketings since March 31 will be eligible for payments under the 1960 program.
